CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Against Self Government.

The Washington correspondent of the Richmand Journal writes:

Representative Hay, of Virginia, is tired of the tendency of the times, to employ an already overworked phrase. Be it known that Mr. Hay is one of the strongest democrats in opinion in the House, a democrat of the old-fashioned type.

"I foresee the time, and it is not so very far away, either," he said today, "when the people of this country will demand that the government put the food into their mouths. You needn't laugh; I am in earnest," continued Mr. Hay, and there was not the trace of a smile on his countenance. "Anybody can see that time is coming. Look at this Congress. The people—or part of them, at any rate—are clamoring for so many things according to the patrons of the bills introduced to accomplish such a variety of objects.

"There are bills to give the government entire control of life insurance.'

"Bills to empower the government to regulate all transporation charges.

"Bills to kill the boll weevil.

"Bills to kill the gypsy moth.

"Bills to build good roads.

"Bills to kill the fruit scale.

"Bills to pension everybody, who, by hook or crook, can show the slightest shadow of claim to the government's bounty.

"We are rapidly forgetting that such a thing as an individual State exists. We are looking to the national government for everything. Southern people as well as northern people are going too far in this matter.

"The protective tariff system is at the root of the entire trouble.

"When people found that the government would help them to sell their goods at a higher price than they could otherwise be sold at the trouble started.

"We enacted a tariff law shutting out competition from all other countries. This allowed the home producer to sell his products at the price he could have got before, with the amount of the tariff added. They commenced to get rich right away. Other people have seen all that can be done for a favored class by the government, and they are clamoring for assistance. They think the government can do everything for them, and they are asking it to try. I am opposed to the government doing for people that which they can do for themselves, and I am opposed to the federal government doing for the people of this country that which the States should do. I abhor so much centralization of power. We used to set our faces against all that in the South. Opposition to centralization was a cardinal tenet of democracy. I find we are drifting. And the protective policy of this country is responsible for it all.

"We must call a halt. I am trying, as all other Congressman are doing, to do the best I can for the people of my district But I believe in the old-fashioned doctrine of allowing the individual States to have all the power consistent with good goverment, and of allowing the individual to do most things for himself."

It was plain that Mr. Hay, who is one of the most active representatives in Congress in so far as looking out for the interests of his district is concerned, was very much in earnest as he dwelt upon the tendency of the public to ask of the national government legislation which has hitherto been regarded by men of both parties as within the exclusive province of the State legislature.

Woman After J. P. Morgan.

A slender, refined, black-robed woman of 40 was arrested by detectives as she prepared to enter 23 Wall street New York, yesterday afternoon, for the avowed purpose of shooting J. Pierpont Morgan. It was the fourth visit she had paid to the Morgan banking office since last Friday, when she first appeared, talking wildly and brandishing a revolver.

The detectives bundled the woman into a cab they had in waiting and started toward Broadway. Instantly their prisoner, developing usual strength, began struggling and screaming. A boy on the sidewalk yelled "Kidnappers!" Dozens of others took up the cry. The driver of the cab whipped up his horses, and with 500 men and boys in pursuit the cab rolled up Broadway.

The woman shrieked with every breath. Policemen left their street corner beats and joined in the chase, but the bouncing hansom distanced them. It never stopped until it reached the Criminal Courts building.

Once inside Magistrate Wahle's private office the captive quited somewhat, although she was still verging upon hysteria. She made this statement:

"I am Mrs. C. E. Williams and I live at the Hoffman House. I am a cousin of Lord Suffield, of England, and I own all the land upon which the city of Baltimore stands. J. Pierpont Morgan is my agent. Lately he mismanaged several millions which I put into his hands for investment. I went to his office to demand an accounting, and his clerks told me he had gone to Europe. On Tuesday I warned them that I would return Wednesday and punish him." Then the woman grew incoherent. She was handsomely gowned and of refined appearance, but wild in her gestures and language.

Mrs. Williams is said to be a widow and of good English connections, and protested when ordered to the hospital and said she was the victim of a plot planned by J. P. Morgan. When removed from the magistrate's chamber she struggled desperately, and gave the five policemen who had her in charge all they could do to get her into a carriage.

It is said that the name Williams is probably a fictitious one. She is reputed to have been at one time a very wealthy woman, but is said to have lost considerably by bad investments.

Panic in Steerage.

A terrifying experience at sea was reported by the officers of the French line steamer Hudson which arrived in New York Tuesday. During the storm which swept the Atlantic last Friday afternoon and evening, the 336 steerage passengers on the steamer became panic-stricken and were quieted only after the captain and first officer had threatened them with revolver and knife.

Both the barometer and thermometer fell rapidly, and a terrific gale rolled up great seas. When the storm was at its worst the steerage passengers became panic-stricken and sought to go on deck, insisting that if they must die they wanted to meet death in the open. The stewards and minor officers lost control of the passengers and appealed to the captain for assistance.

Capt. Juham and First Officer Mebaussas, who were on the bridge hurried to the steerage quarters and attempted to pacify the terrorized passengers. First they assured them that there was no danger, then threatened them, and finally drew revolvers and knives and threatened to use them unless the passengers became quiet. Order finally was restored. Soon afterward the storm abated.

Capt. Juham said that the storm, while it lasted, was the most severe he ever saw in his thirty years experience at sea.

AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY EVENING. MAR. 15, 1906.

THERE IS every indication that the congregation of the Mary S. Brown Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church in Pittsburg, Pa., which was founded and supported by the late Captain S. S. Brown, the turfman, will be rent asunder over Miss Martha Lewis, whom Captain Brown favored throughout his life and remembered in his last will. Among other things that Captain Brown left to Miss Lewis was $80,000 in brewery bonds, which the church demands that she dispose of and which she refuses to do. The congregation is about evenly divided, most of the women members of the church demanding the resignation of Miss Lewis as secretary of the Sunday school, while the men are standing up for her. One male member of the church has refused to teach a Sunday school class as long as Miss Lewis continues in the organization. It is hard to see how brewery bonds are regarded as "tainted" when the church referred to above was foundered by a turfman and was for some time supported by him.

IN A frantic desire to end his life, Samuel Fenimore tried the unusual method of beating his brains out with a bricklayer's hammer in the cellar of his home, at Ashton, Pa., yesterday. When his wife tried to stop him he shook her off and went on pounding at his skull until he became unconscious. It is said that he has a slim chance for recovery. He succeeded in cracking his skull in two or three places over the temple. A mania for money-saving is thought to have been the cause of Fenimore's attempt at suicide. He quarrelled with his wife over every item of daily expenditure. In the last few days he had been heard to grumble that spending money for necessities in life is wastefulness. There seems to be a suicide epidemic in this country at present.

RUSSIA'S woes, it appears, have not ended. There are grave indications that the unrest in that distressed country is growing and that disorders on a large scale are about to be renewed. Count Witte is reported to be endeavoring to repress a reactionary plot which would entail further massacres, and the socialist elements are said to be preparing a general strike. High Russian officials and courtiers are said to be involved in a plot to start a counter revolution in order to provoke further reactionary measures, and General Rennenkampf has issued a proclamation announcing that an attempt on his life or the lives of members of his escort would be followed by the execution of all the six hundred revolutionists now in prison.

IT IS stated by the dispatches from Manila that Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood has announced that he assumes full responsibility for the fight against the Moros in Jolo. He says "there was no wanton destruction of women and children in the fight, though many of them were killed by force of necessity." The fact that but eighteen American soldiers were killed while between six and nine hundred natives were slain in the battle will not substantiate the claim of Gen. Wood that the killing was from "force of necessity," but, on the other hand, verifies the press dispatches which designated the killing as a "massacre." For shooting a few Cubians Gen. Weyler was termed "The Butcher." Gen. Wood must be a whole abattoir.

AIDED by the Altoona, Pa. Ministerium, the anti-saloon league is preparing for the greatest struggle against licensed liquor selling ever known to Blair county. Not an applicant in the country districts is to escape the crusade, while in Altoona forty-one of the seventy-three applicants are strongly opposed. New applicants in communities heretofore without licensed taverns have to contend against a general uprising of churchgoers, and it is predicted all will fail of the privilege. Agents of the anti-saloon league have gathered evidence against many dealers and will use it in court. There is an anti-saloon league in Virginia, but it has made no decided movement as yet against those who sell liquor.

GEN. WOOD cables that the slaughter of Moro women and children in the recent battle in Jolo was "unavoidable," and President Roosevelt pronounces his answer "entirely satisfactory and commends the conduct of Gen. Wood and the American troops in that battle. In the meantime the Senate wants more information concerning the reported massacre.

JUDGE PARKER says President Roosevelt will ask for a third term. If he should do so now it is quite certain his request would be granted, for he seems to have hypnotized the people of the country, especially those of the South, who appear to be falling over each other to do him honor—notwithstanding his treatment of them.

THE Legislature—Senate, adjourned; thank the Lord; House, ditto, ditto.

IT IS reported in Pittsburg that President Roosevelt has advised President Mitchell, of the miners' union, to accept the offer for a renewal of the agreement in the anthracite fields. If this advice has been given, it is hoped it may be heeded, for the people of this country are in no mood for another coal strike.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, March 15.

The fate of the statehood bill will be decided by a caucus of House republicans which has been called to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The stumbling block in the path of those House republicans who are content to concur in the bill as amended by the Senate, granting statehood to Oklahoma and Indian Territory, but leaving New Mexico and Arizona out in the cold, is Speaker Cannon, who insists that the dignity of the House is at stake and that there should be no submission to Senate dictation. He has been very positive in his opposition to the suggestion that the House adopt the Senate bill, but so much pressure has been and is being brought on him, that the hope is expressed that he will gracefully recede from his proposition this afternoon. It is said that he may go so far as to concur in statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territory on condition that the Senate readopt the provision leaving the question of joint statehood of New Mexico and Arizona to a vote of the people of the two territories. Senator Foraker is quoted as saying that the Senate will go no further than it has gone and that the surrender of the Speaker and his organization must be complete. In any other event no new States will be admitted by this Congress. Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, leader of the House "insurgents" who from the beginning have been opposed to the admission of Arizona and New Mexico will call a meeting before the conference is called to determine their course of action. They will not permit the caucus, or conference, to bind them against concurring in the Senate bill. They declare emphatically that Speaker Cannon cannot hold his former adherents on the statehood question in line and that Oklahoma and Indian Territory will be admitted when the House takes the matter up next week, no matter what the Speaker's personal attitude may be.

President Roosevelt received a call today from a delegation of cement manufacturers and dealers of Pennsylvania who laid before him a petition asking for an executive order which shall compel all contractors upon government work to use American cement exclusively. Representative Schneebelli presented the visitors who assured the President that there is no reason in the matter of price or of quality why the American product should not be used wherever cement is needed.

President Roosevelt received a visit today from Frank J. Boudenot, a Cherokee Indian who claims to have been elected principal chief of his tribe last November but who has not been able to assume the duties of his position on account of the influence of W. C. Rogers, the old chief, who still hangs onto the job. "I was elected under the law creating a legislature" said Boudenot, "but in spite of the fact that all the government's regulations have been complied with, the Interior Department refuses to recognize my claims." The President referred Boudenot to Indian Commissioner Leupp and promised to investigate his case. Boudenot was accompanied to the White House by another Cherokee, Richard Wolf, who showed the President a flag presented by the ladies of Philadelphia to the Keetoowah society for the services of its members in the federal cause during the civil war. The flag bears the words, "Friends of the Union."

Senator Bulkeley, of Connecticut, announced this morning, that if opportunity offered he would vote against the Philippine tariff bill. He has sent a letter to each of a dozen leading business men of that State, who had petitioned him to support the measure, informing them of his intention. Senator Brandegee announces that he fully endorses the position taken by his colleague.

The President today nominated George Eugene Eager, of Illinois, to be Consul of the United States at Barmon, Germany.

The House insurgents on the statehood bill held a meeting this afternoon at the room of their leader Mr. Babcock. They decided to enter the caucus of the republicans this afternoon but with the understanding that they were not to be bound by its decision. They will favor a proposition to end the statehood bill to a conference with the Senate, but with the proviso of the question of the statehood for Arizona and New Mexcio be eliminated and that only the amendments to the Oklahoma statehood proposition be considered.

There is now being prepared in the State Department a brief of the differences between the United States and Canada on the subjects which for many years have been in controversy between the two countries. The settlement of the long standing fisheries and sealing questions, the establishment of the Alaskan boundary under the award of the joint high commission, merchandise customs regulations, vessel inspection on the Great Lakes, mining laws, conveyance of prisoners through each other's territory and other such matters are not the only purpose Mr. Root is said to have in view. These matters will be settled, together with the water right controversies in the Sault Ste. Marie, the Niagara, St. John's and Milk rivers, now in the hands of the International Waterways Commission. Mr. Root, however, is looking toward a more complete unification of interest between Canada and the United States. Not only does he wish differences adjusted, but he wants the two sections of the continent to pull together for mutual benefit and advance along lines of improvement for both.

In addition to the names of American soldiers killed at Mount Dajo, which were reported last Monday, General Wood today cabled that Harry B. Rosebrough, of the hospital corps, was killed. He also cabled that Roderick McLonald, hospital corps, was killed in action at Toledo, Cebu, on March 8. This is the first intimation received here that there had been an action at that place.

After a conference with James H. Vahey, counsel for Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page, at Weston, Mass., and sentenced to hang in June, Associate Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court of the United States, announced today that he would render his decision tomorrow in the motion to bring the case of Tucker into the Supreme Court of the United States on a writ of error.

Catches His Plunging Wife.

Lancaster, Pa., March 15.—An electric light wire caused a fire in the house of Dr. L. A. Warren, last night, which completely ruined it. Mrs. L. A. Warren, jr., slept on the third floor and her escape by the stairs was cut off. She ran to the balcony and while crawling over the banister fainted and fell 25 feet. Her husband was anxiously waiting for her to descend, and when she fell she landed in his arms, which saved her life. Her husband was rendered unconscious for hours by the impact. Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Warren, in their night clothes, were rescued by the firemen.

The indictments were for assault, abduction and conducting a disorderly house.

The formal opening of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference took place at Pocomoke City, Md., yesterday, Bishop Charles C. McCabe presiding. Dr. G. P. Main, representing the New York branch of the Book Concern, the publishing house of the Methodist Episcopal Church, addressed the conference for a half hour, telling of the late strike of the union employes of the concern for an eight-hour day. Dr Main declared that there would be no surrender on the part of the concern.

Still further complications were yesterday interjected into the matrimonial difficulties of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Irving Tuttle, of Roland Park, near Baltimore, through the institution of an action by the former to recover $50,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Powell on the allegation that Mrs. Bessie R. Tuttle, their daughter, had been induced to leave her husband through the influence of her parents, and that they had "caused him the loss of her society, fellowship and assistance in domestic and social ways."

Samuel H. Kauffman, president of the Evening Star Newspaper Company, died at his home in Washington this morning, after a lingering illness. He was born in Wayne county, Ohio, in 1829, and moved to Washington in 1861, where he was appointed to a confidential position in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury. He resigned this office in 1867, and became one of the proprietors of the Evening Star, of Washington. He had been for more than thirty years the president of the Evening Star Newspaper Company.

The whereabouts of John D. Rockefeller have been ascertained. He is at his home in Lakewood, N. Y.

Nelson-McGovern Fight.

"Battling" Nelson had the advantage of Terry McGovern in their six-round bout which took place at the National Athletic Club in Philadelphia, last night. For the first three rounds the fight was a disappointment to the 5,000 persons who had paid fancy prices to witness the bout. There were scarcely half a dozen solid blows struck, the men wrestling from one end of the ring to the other, with the referee powerless to separate them. It had been agreed that the referee was not to lay his hands on the men, but simply warn them to step back when they rushed to a clinch. The repeated warnings had no effect on the fighters, and the crowd hissed, groaned and cried "Fake!" and "Take them out of the ring."

At the beginning of the fourth round the men began to fight as though they meant business. Nelson kept right after McGovern and used a straight left to advantage. McGovern frequently countered with hard lefts and rights, but his blows, while they appeared to have great force behind them, failed to make an impression on the sturdy Dane. At the close of the fifth round McGovern went to his corner in distress.

When the men came up for the final round Nelson sent a left to the jaw and McGovern rushed into a clinch. His seconds cried: "Hold on, Terry, hold on!" and never were instructions carried out more thoroughly. Every time that Nelson would land a stiff blow McGovern would grab him around the body and hang on until Nelson would throw him off by sheer force. It is doubtful if McGovern could have stood the gruelling for another round. There was some rough work in the early rounds by the Dane.

He frequently used his right elbow and bore in on McGovern repeatedly with his head. Nelson deserved the decision, but as no decisions are rendered when both men are on their feet the fight is classed as a draw. Neither man was knocked down during the fight, but McGovern slipped to the floor in the fifth round while trying to escape from the Dane.

An active campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis is to be inaugurated by the physicians of Frederick and and Clarke counties.

Mrs. Addie E. Lake, wife of H. V. Lake, of Fauquier county, died on Tuesday. Her remains were interred at Greenwich this evening.

Tuesday night the old mansion in Williamsburg, formerly the home of Peyton Randolph, was damaged by fire. The house is now occupied by Dr. T. J. Stubbs, professor of mathematics at William and Mary College. The fire caught from the chimney.

Mrs. Bessie Janney Koser died at her home, near Gettysburg, Pa., Tuesday. Mrs. Koser was the daughter of Phineas Janney, a merchant of Lincoln, Loudoun county, and leaves many relatives in Loudoun. She is survided by her husband, Wilmer Koser, and one daughter.

The body of Mr. Fayette Dove, son of Mr. Thos. Dove, of Goresville, Loudoun county, was found in the Lime Stone Branch, a few miles from Leesburg, on Tuesday, death having occurred from drowning. He had been fishing and was about to return home when he was stricken by an epileptic fit, to which he had been subject for sometime, and falling, plunged headlong into the stream.

It is stated that when the two-cent rate goes into effect on the Virginia railroads the Norfolk and Western Railway will prevent ticket scalpers benefitting by the new law. The company now issues about half a dozen special rate tickets, among them being tickets to ministers, theatrical companies, and excursions. All of these will be cut out, and everybody will be required to pay the same fare.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, Washington patent attorneys, report the grant this week, to citizens of this State, of the following patents: Samuel P. Cowardin, of Richmond, electric rail bond and making same; Bernard Enright, of Fordwick, manufacture of hydraulic cement and apparatus therefor; Andrew J. McCready, of Parksley, vine-cutter; Leonard L. Davis, assignor to W. R. Temple, of Newport News, lifting hook.

On the eve of his trial for the murder of Flossie Reese, Louis Brown, a member of one of Portsmouth's most prominent families, committed suicide by cutting his throat in the Norfolk jail yesterday morning. Brown was to have been tried today in the Corporation Court in Norfolk. He was charged with having thrown a lighted lamp at Flossie Reese, covering his victim with blazing oil, and almost cremating her. The woman lived only a few hours.

In the Magistrate's Court of Stafford county, yesterday, W. W. Groves, who eloped from that county with Mrs. Snellings, was given a preliminary trial on two warrants. On the one charging him with eloping with Mrs. Snellings he was fined $50 and costs. From this decision his counsel took an appeal. On the charge of deserting and abandoning his wife and children he was sent on to the grand jury and bailed in the sum of $100 to appear at the May term of the Stafford County Court.

Governor Swanson recently received a letter from Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, requesting him to appoint a committee to co-operate with similar committees from North Carolina and other states in going to Washington to use their influence before the House of Representatives to get the forestry bill, now pending in Congress, passed. This bill provides for the establishment of an Appalachian park or White Mountain park. Among those appointed members of the committee by the governor is Mr. C. B. Marshall, of Alexandria.

A meeting of the democratic committee of the First congressional district was held in Richmond yesterday. T. J. Downing, of Lancaster county, was elected chairman of the committee to succeed the late Lloyd T. Smith. It was ordered that a democratic primary to select a candidate for the 60th Congress shall be held on Saturday, June 16th, and persons desiring to become candidates at said primary shall give notice in writing to the chairman of said committee of their candidacy on or before Saturday, April 14th. The amount of assessment to be paid by each candidate was fixed at $800.

All Doubt Removed

All doubt as to the guilt of Robert L. Traynham, the well-known young Roanoker, who was arrested two weeks ago, charged with the murder of his aged father, ex-sheriff John B. Traynham, and who committed suicide by swallowing poison on the train while being conveyed to Lynchburg for safe-keeping, was removed yesterday when the bloody hatchet with which the crime was committed was found in the carriage-house on the premises of the late Robert Traynham. On the day before the ex-sheriff was cut to death in his bed-room, within a few feet of the city hall, Robert Traynham bought a hatchet. It was stated by physicians who held the autopsy over the murdered veteran that the instrument used was a hatchet, but until yesterday there had been no trace of the weapon.

Young Traynham's wife, who gave birth to a son after his death, does not know of the murder of her father-in-law or the suicide of her husband, but believes that both died suddenly from heart trouble.

Suicide in Subway.

Woman fainted and a hundred others were greatly unnerved yesterday afternoon when a young man, believed to be C. R. Flattau, son of a wealthy auctioneer, threw himself before a southbound local train in the subway station at Astor Place, New York, and was instantly killed. Papers found on the body indicated that the man was the son of August Flattau, of 3 University Place. The body was horrible mangled, although only the forward wheels of the motor car passed over it. The local train was pulling into the station when the young man threw himself to the track in the presence of a large number of people, mostly women shoppers, who had been watching him for sometime because of his strange actions. Motorman Highland applied the emergency brakes so suddenly that passengers who were standing were thrown off their feet and bruised.

Sherrick, ex-auditor of Indiana, was found guilty today of misapplying state funds. The punishment is from two to twenty-one years in the penitentiary.

Today's Telegraphic News

Affairs in Russia.

St. Petersburg, March 15.—There is good authority for the statement which has been made here of late to the effect that when the last manifesto outlining the plans for the reorganization of the national douma and the council of the empire, was presented to the Czar for his signature, Nicholas, after reading the document through carefully, seized a pen and said to Premier Witte, "I am going to insert the word 'autocratic' wherever the word 'powers' is used by you. Why have you not so expressed it yourself?" Special orders had to be sent to all of the institutions of the empire where the manifesto had been dispatched to see that the manifesto was published with the amended phrase.

Reports which have been received from Chita, Siberia, say that General Rennenkampf, the commander there, threatened political prisoners who had been taken into custody recently that unless they made confessions within one hour they would be led out and shot.

Berlin, March 15.—Information received here from well informed circles in St. Petersburg is to the effect that Premier Witte, though still nominally Premier, has been supplanted by M. Dournovo, the Minister of the Interior. The Countess Saloff visited Premier Witte and presented to him a petition for the release of a number of high-born political prisoners. Witte received the countess cordially, but said: "Apply to Minister Dournovo, who rules Russia absolutely. If M. Dournovo wished to hang me the Czar certainly would order my execution." The Countess went to Minister Dournovo, and described the sufferings of the innocent prisoners. Dournovo is reported to have replied: "You are too naive to expect such fables to influence me. I am not a director of a charitable institution, but a cabinet minister of the Russian empire. I cannot allow sentimental regard to influence my course."

Berlin, March 15.—Rosa Luxemburg, a celebrated German socialist, has been arrested at Warsaw. The woman is co-editor in chief of the socialist daily here, Vorwaerts. She went to Poland last November to participate in the revolutionary movement and assumed the leadership of the Warsaw rebels. She fought at the head of the rebels in a score of street engagements and organized a dozen conspiracies and twenty-five dynamite outrages. The Governor General of Warsaw offered a reward of $3,000 for her capture and this led to her betrayal by another woman socialist for the sake of the reward. The woman is now confined in a small evil-smelling cell in prison, wherein sixty political prisoners of both sexes are huddled. She managed to smuggle out a message to German friends in which she described her experiences and through them the information reached here. The woman expects that the death penalty will be inflicted upon her.

The Miners' Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—What promises to be an epoch making convention in the history of the United Mine Workers of America, was opened at the German House this morning. The thousand or more delegates, assembled in the convention hall when President Mitchell's gavel fell, shortly after 10 o'clock, seemed to show by their conduct that they constantly realized the weight of responsibility resting on them. There was an absence of the jovial levity customary about the miners' gatherings, and, in fact, this has been noticed even in the hotel corridors since the delegates began to arrive. The roll-call took up much of the time of the opening session. Interest was centred on Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburg district, when he appeared in the convention hall. It is a prevalent opinion among the delegates that Dolan, in a measure, holds an important key to the situation. Dolan is here as a delegate, and it has been generally believed that he would come armed with a big stock for Mitchell. This was denied today by Vice President Uriah Bellingham, of Dolan's district. "Dolan is not here for a fight," said Bellingham. "Make that definite. Dolan is here for self protection. There will be no personal opposition to Mitchell on our part. The Ryan resolution is what Dolan is opposed to. The resolution was an insult to operators, he claims. After agreeing to try to reach a settlement, it in effect says: 'We refuse to reach any agreement with you.' That resolution makes fair parley with the operators impossible. In fact, it removes all basis for treating with the operators. It must be repealed."

Mysterious Death.

New York, March 15.—Coroner Schrady and the police began an investigation this morning into the mystery surrounding the death of a man supposed to be James Conant, a wealthy resident of Pittsburg, and well-known among the theatrical people throughout the country. The man was registered at the Hotel Navarre, under the name of J. C. Wallace, but he was known there also as Conant. Where and how he died are among the things the coroner and the police want to know. The hotel people say he did not die in the Navarre. He had, however, previously been there with two women, one of whom he said was his wife. There is an unconfirmed rumor that a Pittsburg, Pa., woman, armed with a pistol, had been looking for Conant. It was later learned that Conant died from alcoholism.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

DIED.

On March 14, JAMES W. McCUEN, son of James W. and Margaret A. McCuen, aged six weeks. The funeral will take place from the home of the parents, No. 909 Gibbon street, Friday March 16, at 2 o'clock p. m.—[Washington papers please copy.

On Wednesday, March 14, 1906, at 4 a. m., at her late residence, 1410 Florida avenue, northwest, Washington, Mrs. MARGARET REILLEY. Funeral services on Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Paul's Catholic Church, corner 15th and V streets, Washington.

The Legislature.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Va., March 15.—The General Assembly adjourned sine die today. The committee investigating allegations as to tampering with bills adjourned till next Thursday, when a report will be given to the Attorney General and the press. The matter is looked upon here with some degree of seriousness.

Murder and Suicide.

New York, March 15.—Miss Estelle Young, 25 years old, was shot and almost instantly killed this morning by Louis Nosser, 34 years old, in the apartments of Nosser and his wife on the ninth floor of the Pierrepont, at 295 west 25th street. Nosser after shooting the woman turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet into his brain, dying almost instantly. The story told by Mrs. Nosser to the police is that Miss Young, who was a friend of the family, came to visit her yesterday afternoon. She was persuaded to stay over night at the Nosser apartments. The women occupied one room together, and Nosser slept in the other room. Shortly after they had all arisen this morning Mrs. Nosser stepped into the bath room to take a bath. A few minutes later she heard the door between the suite and bath room locked and later two shots were heard. The woman was alarmed and summoned a maid who secured pass keys.

When the woman entered the room Miss Young was found lying on the floor with a bullet in her right temple. Nosser was in the adjoining room dead, the bullet having taken effect in his brain. Miss Young was still living, but unconscious, and she died without regaining consciousness. The police are not satisfied with Mrs. Nosser's story and they are investigating certain features of the affair which seem to be mysterious.

It has been learned that the young woman's name was Estelle Reynolds. She lived with a married sister, Mrs. Ida Morrison, at 219 west Thirty-fourth street, and came here from New Orleans a few years ago. Nosser was said to be a book maker, well known among horse men, and also the proprietor of a gambling room in New York. From the condition of the room in which Nosser slept, the police were of the opinion that he had made a request of Miss Reynolds, which she had refused and that a quarrel had followed which ended later in the shooting of the young woman by Nosser and the killing of himself. Little is known about Nosser except that he was supposed to be a speculator. He had not lived long at the Pierrepont, but formerly lived at the Imperial. The young woman, it is said, was mixed up in a shooting affair which occurred at the Imperial Hotel about eighteen months ago, and the police are trying to trace her antecedents and history.

Scenes in a Conference.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 15.—Rev. J. E. Thompson, of Trenton, in the New Jersey Episcopal Methodist Conference today opposed a resolution by the New Jersey Conference, endorsing the "Bishop's bill," to regulate the liquor traffic now before the legislature. He said such action would be to make the conference the tail to a Roman Catholic kite. "The Catholics came forward with the bill when we had a prohibitory bill all ready," he declared. "I will speak eternally against it. If a local opinion bill were enacted in Trenton the big cathedral would go into bankruptcy." He was greeted with cries of "Shame." Rev. Fox declared it would be "sweet news" to the liquor men to hear that the conference was divided on the bill. These remarks were greeted with "Amen." The resolution was passed with only four hands raised in dissent.

Parker's Rap at Roosevelt.

Birmingman, Ala., March 15.—Judge Alton B. Parker, on his way east, from Jackson, Miss., passed through Birmingham yesterday and is quoted by a local paper as having said while at the Union station here: "I am convinced that Mr. Roosevelt will ask for the nomination of the republican party for a third term. While this would probably be disputed in Washington, I am satisfied that at present this is the intention of the President. In spite of the fact that, when his election in 1904 was an assured fact, he made the statement that under no conditions would he again be a candidate, I believe that Roosevelt has intended all along to again ask for the nomination."

King Charles to Abdicate?

Vienna, March 15.—It is reported from Bucharest, that King Charles I. of Roumania, intends to abdicate his throne in the autumn owing to his disapproval of the demand for universal suffrage. Charles or Carol I. was born April 20, 1839, and is the son of the late Prince Karl, of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen. He was elected "Domn" or Lord of Roumania, April 20, 1863, and entered Bucharest on May 22 of that year. He was proclaimed king of Roumania March 26, 1881. The heir to the crown is King Charles' nephew, Prince Ferdinand, in whom the succession vested by the action of his father and elder brother in renouncing their right to the throne.

Fresh Fire in Mine.

Lens, France, March 15.—A fresh fire broke out this morning in the Courrieres mine, which was the scene of the recent mining catastrophe. The fire is at a depth of 340 metres, and the wooden work in the mine is burning fiercely. All rescue parties have been called from the mine, and an attempt is being made to smother the fire by stopping the entrances to all the shafts. Eighteen corpses were brought up by rescuers during the night.

A meeting attended by 3,000 strikers was held here today. The strike movement is spreading among the miners. Nine thousand miners have now joined the strike movement.

Letter to S F Dyson & Bro.

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sirs: How easy it is to get things mixed! This comes from our agents, Messrs B K & G W Stickle, Rockaway, N J.

A Rockaway man was going to paint two houses, a year ago, lead-and-oil. They induced him to paint one Devoe, by agreeing to bear any loss it might bring him.

One of his houses chalked off, and he called for a settlement.

The boot was on the wrong foot. Lead-and-oil is the chalker; not Devoe. It was a mistake, not a bunco.

If Devoe chalked-off as lead-and-oil does, it wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance in the market. Yours truly

Lower Court Sustained.

Richmond, Va., March 15.—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, today handed down its opinion in the case of the Everett Waddey Company and others, (The Richmond Typothetae) against the Typographical Union No. 90 and others appealed from the Chancery Court of Richmond. The case is popularly designated as the "printers injunction case" and was decided against the typothetae in a lengthy opinion handed down in the lower court by Judge Daniel Grinnan. The Supreme Court upholds the decision of the lower court dissolving the temporary injunction which operated to prevent alleged interference by union printers with the business of the employing printers and is a most important victory for the striking printers.

Steamer Lost on the Congo.

Antwerp, March 15.—A dispatch received here today states that the Congolaise-Belgiam steamer Roldesbelger has been lost in the waters of the upper Congo. All on board the vessel including Europeans and natives were lost.

Accident at Steel Plant.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 15.—The sudden explosion of a pot of molten steel at 7:30 o'clock this morning at the Edgar Thomson steel plant, Braddock, fearfully burned eight of the pit men. They were taken to Mercy Hospital, Pittsburg, where, it is expected, that three of them will die, while the others are in a serious condition.

The Algeciras Conference.

Paris, March 15.—Pessimism again prevails over the possibility of reaching an agreement at the Algeciras congress on the question of policing Morocco. Switzerland had been suggested as the neutral nation able to carry out German wishes, but a message from Berne states positively that Switzerland will refuse to undertake the policing.

New York Stock Market.

New York, March 15.—The results in the early trading were simply a continuation of the decline that was in progress when the market closed yesterday. Traders who were long of stocks sold out and some fresh lines were put out for short account by bears, both on the floor and outside of the exchange. There was no pressure of real stock from any source and toward the end of the first hour the floating supply on contracts was exhausted and made the buying start a general recovery.

It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and cure the mucous membrances of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

The Age Limit.

A motion to limit the life membership in the Richmond Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, caused an interesting discussion at the meeting of the society in Richmond yesterday. Mrs. Walter Christian proposed that no woman under 40 years of age should be accepted as a life member. Consternation struck the assemblage, and for a few minutes the buzz of voices was so audible that Mrs. Norman Randolph had to use her gavel forcibly to call the meeting to order.

One of the younger members objected on the ground of discrimination, and a prominent member was heard to say that there would not be many life members. Many little pleasantries were indulged in, and Mrs. Dabney Carr brought down the house by saying that she had read in the paper that the beauty doctor could make the grandmothers look as young as their granddaughters, which being the case—and a woman is as young as she looks—the age question would prove a bar to a large number. Mrs. Christian finally withdrew her motion. The corresponding secretary was instructed to write a letter to Senator Foraker thanking him for introducing in Congress the bill for marking the graves of the Confederate dead, which bill has just passed both houses. The bill has introduced by Senator Foraker several years ago.

Worries D. A. R. Circles.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Storms are brewing in D. A. R. circles and the Congress which meets in Washington on Easter Monday will not be lacking in excitement. Work on the Continental Hall has been resumed only in the past few days, after complete cessation, since the last Congress. It was contemplated that the work would be continuous and funds were available for considerable progress. Instead of finding a finished Valhalla, the delegates will have to hold their councils in the same unplastered and partially-floored hall. The Congress will have some thousand odd delegates and alternates. Continental Hall advocates are disheartened over the lack of interest in the organization's great aim to build this hall.

Informant Assaulted.

A few days ago an item in this column described certain disgraceful scenes between two drunken women and several men in an ark on the north shore of Hunting creek, near the site of the old toll house. A night or two ago while Mr. A. D. Brown was in Mr. M. R. O'Sullivan's store, at the southern end of Patrick street and in Fairfax county, he was approached by a man named John (alias "Skeeter) Welsh, who asked Mr. Brown if he gave the reporter for the Gazette the facts in connection with the item. Mr. Brown replied in the affirmative when Welsh struck him on the back of the head and before Mr. Brown could stop him he delivered several other blows on his face. Mr. Brown forced his assailant over some barrels when Welsh's friends conducted him away. Mr. Brown was not the only witness to the licentious proceedings at the ark, and it is said that all persons who were concerned in getting the item in the Gazette are to be summarily dealt with by the individuals who were entertaining the women, in which event the foolkiller, who has for some time been in the shade in Alexandria, may suddenly manifest himself. As stated above, the assault upon Mr. Brown was committed in Fairfax county, as was also the unseemly conduct on the ark, and this affords another reason why the corporate limits of Alexandria should extend far enough south for the city authorities to exercise police jurisdiction over such cases. Mr. Brown, being of a peaceable nature, did not report the assault to the Fairfax authorities, but that they should take cognizance of such incidents is apparent, especially when it is remembered that Justice Triplett with his coadjutor, Constable A. J. Payne, occasionally occupies the wood-sack in a blacksmith shop on the opposite corner from the store where the assault occurred.

Enlarging the Electric Power House.

The work increasing the capacity of the electric power house of the W., A. & Mt. V. Ry. at Four-mile run, was started yesterday, when the workmen began building an addition to the boiler room and the erection of a high stack to provide ample draft for the new boilers. No change is to be made in the interior of the generator and engine room, there being ample space in the building for the installation of a new 1,500 horse power turbine engine and two electrical generators, one to furnish a direct current and the other alternating current for the different classes of work they will be called upon to perform. The new machinery has been unloaded at the power house and is ready to be placed in position. This addition to the power of the electric railway plant is made necessary by the increased number of trains that will be put in service on the road in the coming summer, and by the fact that the power to light the new Luna park and to run the attractions there will be furnished from the Four-mile run plant. The railroad company, as heretofore stated, is now having built at the Brill shops in Philadelphia seven new motor cars and seven trailers, which will be delivered here next month and which will be put in service on the road in the coming summer. The new motors will be of the same type and will have the seating capacity of the motors purchased last spring and now in use between this city and Washington.

Dismal Weather.

The rainy and raw weather of yesterday continued throughout last night and showed no "let up" today. The cold northeast wind and driving rain drove every one not forced to be on the streets to shelter. Delivery wagons hastened over their rounds, while mail carriers, insurance collectors, newsboys, reporters and others who are compelled to brave the elements plod their respective ways, some clad in rainproof garments and others with umbrellas. There was but one common observation and that was in regard to the dismal nature of the weather. Occasional snow slides from houses attracted attention or caused pedestrians to scamper. Around the river front conditions were equally uninviting. The northeast wind dashed waves against bulkheads and careened craft lying in docks. There was virtually nothing on the bosom of the stream to attract attention, save now and then a tugboat moved up or down the river. The same conditions existed to the mouth of the river, according to the officers of the Norfolk steamer, which arrived up early this morning.

Darkey vs. Shoemaker.

There was but one case before the Police Court this morning. Officer Roberts had summoned a shoemaker to appear and answer a charge preferred by a colored man. The latter stated that he purchased a pair of second-hand shoes from the dealer which did not fit him, and he returned them for the purpose of having them exchanged. The dealer did not have a second-hand pair that would fit the darkey, and told him if he would pay another dollar he would furnish him a new pair. The complainant demurred and demanded that his dollar be returned. Upon being refused he lodged complaint at the station house. Justice Caton ordered the dealer to return the dollar upon receipt of the shoes.

An Omission.

In the item in yesterday's Gazette concerning the will of the late Thomas Kelly one bequest was omitted. The testator left the house and lot on the northeast corner of Wolfe and Alfred streets and the lot adjoining on Alfred street to his son, Mr. Thomas F. Kelly, who is the executor of the estate.

Found Bicycle.

Officer Beach late last night found a bicycle on the north side of King street, near Washington. He endeavored to find the owner, but, failing in the attempt, he took the wheel to the station house where it was locked up in a cell, there to await a claimant.

James, the infant son of Mr. James W. and Mrs Margaret McCuen, died at his parents' residence, 909 Gibbon street, last night.

The Fishing Season.

The pungy Shining Light, Capt. Keith Davis, sailed from this port on Tuesday with a party of Alexandria gill net fishermen aboard, who have gone to the vicinity of Hallowing Point to prepare for gill net fishing in Pohick and other creeks in that vicinity. The men took with them their nets, boats and other fishing paraphernalia, and will have the nets in the water in a few days. Until the spring run of shad begins the fishermen will work their nets for perch, catfish, bass and other spring fish that are now in demand in the markets and which bring good prices. The receipts are becoming heavier almost daily from the nets now being fished in the Potomac.

Held on Murder Charge.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination of Sallie Stewart, witness for the State in the Kobre murder case in Winston-Salem, N. C., yesterday, Mayor Eaton ordered J. E. Witbeck committed without bail, to await the May term of the Superior Court. The counsel for the defense did not introduce any testimony. The hearing did not last over twenty minutes.

Mr. Witbeck's many friends in this city confidently believe and assert that when the case comes before the court he will be exonerated of all blame or connection with the case.

Charges Against an Officer.

A day or two ago Lieutenant Smith reported to Chief Webster that Officer William Mayhugh was guilty of an infraction of one of the rules governing the police force. Later the allegation was made to Mayor Paff and the matter will be investigated.

Will Probated.

The will of the late Margaret O'Toole was admitted to probate today. The deceased left her estate valued at $2,500 to her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Foley Cline, during the latter's life and at her death it goes to St. Patrick's Church, Washington.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The Senate and House were in session for a few minutes yesterday with only a handful of members in each house.

Lieutenant Governor Ellyson, president of the Senate, designated Senator Garrett, of Henry county, as a member of the committee to investigate the Virginia Military Institute in place of Senator Lassiter, of Petersburg, who asked to be relieved.

The enrolling clerk appeared with a batch of 65 bills which had been enrolled, and the titles were read and the measures signed in the presence of the Senate. This work required half an hour. The Senate adjourned to meet again today at noon.

In the House Mr. Throckmorton offered a resolution to extend the term of the assistant clerk, Thomas H. Bigger, sixty days, in order that the clerk might be given time to complete the work before him, the accumulation of business being so great that it was a physical impossibility for him to keep up with the proceedings. The resolution was adopted. A large volume of bills laid on the speaker's desk for his signature occupied his time during yesterday's session.

Mr. Lane made a humorous speech, in which he suggested that the "bust" of Captain John Smith, presented by Captain Charles Moyer to the State, be given a place in the "busted State treasury." This brought Colonel Lee to his feet, and on his motion an "indefinite leave of absence" was granted Mr. Lane, amid laughter.

Before the legislative committee investigating irregularities in connection with amendments reported to certain bills Judge Gooch, the enrolling clerk, yesterday testified that he had been asked to give a certain bill to a certain clerk for enrollment, and was then asked by another person to delay a certain measure that another measure might take precedence over it. He agreed to do so, and was then presented with a check for $25. He flatly refused to receive the check, and also refused then to grant either request.

In the investigation of the charges in connection with the Portsmouth water works bill, several witnesses were examined yesterday. T. J. Wool, counsel for the water company, said that he presented the amendment in question simply for the consideration of the committee. No light was thrown upon the way the amendment appeared in the enrolled bill.

It is rumored that Delegate Howles' bill, exempting the estates of lunatics from charges for maintenance, had been subjected to some irregularities, but the Isle of Wight representative, when asked about the matter, said that he expected that everything would be satisfactorily explained in this connection. Other matters of a similar nature are being investigated.

It is probable that the special legislative committee appointed to inquire into the cost of school books and the expediency of the State acting as its own publisher, will begin its session some time about the middle of July.

The Governor has signed the bill which provides that the commissioners of the revenue shall be appointed by the courts.

Washington, March 15.

SENATE.

When the Senate met today it passed a bill permitting Captain Nicholson to act as master of an American ship. The captain is conducting an exploration project into the Antarctic sea for the Geological Society of Washington, and he cannot secure his full naturalization papers in time to legally permit his selection.

Mr. Tillman presented his report on the railway rate bill. It was read, upon request of Senators.

"The gross annual earnings of the railroads are, in round numbers $2,000,000,000. Their net earnings are $700,000,000. It will thus be seen that once a year every dollar in circulation in the United States passes through the hands of the railroads, while once in three years every dollar in the United States becomes a part of their net earnings, and those net earnings equal in amount annually the entire expenditures of the United States government." This striking statement is made by Senator Tillman in his formal written report on the Hepburn railroad rate bill which he was directed to make by the Senate committee on interstate commerce and which he presented in the Senate shortly after it met today. "It is small wonder," he continued, "that, with such princely revenues, the most brilliant legal minds of the country are at their command to conduct legislation, to frame laws and to secure their passage through legislatures and Congress, and to exercise such an overmastering influence over the judiciary and executive departments, both of the States and nation, that the average citizen is almost driven to believe that the fight is hopeless and that the government, instead of controlling the railroads is controlled by them, and that the liberties of the people, to say nothing of their rights, are in jeopardy.

"The final outcome will determine whether or not the people are really capable of self government and can maintain and transmit to their posterity the priceless heritage that we have had handed down to us by our ancestors."

Discussing the peculiar twist by which the measure happened to be placed in charge of a democratic member, Senator Tillman said:

"Party lines in the committee were broken down and the bill is in the Senate by reason of the union of five members of the minority party and three members of the majority party in Congress who concurred in reporting it favorably; and while these eight Senators are agreed as to the general purpose and scope of the bill, there are radical differences among them as to the amendments that ought to be incorporated in it.

"This lack of harmony among the supporters of the policy involved in the bill brings about the anomalous situation in which a member of the minority party in Congress is put in charge in the Senate of proposed legislation which is generally regarded throughout the country as the cherished scheme of the President, with whose general policy and principles that member is not in accord."

The report then discusses the contentions for and against giving to the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to fix rates and to the courts authority to review the commission's decisions and suspend their operation pending that review. Senator Tillman says both of these questions will have to be determined by the Supreme Court of the United States although he is most confident "that it is possible to properly amend this bill so as to prohibit the Circuit Courts from interfering with the orders of the commission by any interlocutory order."

Mr. Nelson addressed the Senate on the railroad rate question. He favored regulation but he opposed any plan looking to the abridgment of the power of the courts to grant injunctions.

Mr. Bacon created a flurry, when he expressed the hope that great provocation could be shown by the government for the recent killing of Moro men, women and children at Mount Dajo, Jolo. "It was most unfortunate and most regrettable," he exclaimed, "what was the occasion for this unfortunate massacre?" he asked.

"If there was provocation, it is extremely desirous that we know. I hope the facts will show that there was the greatest provocation for the slaughter."

The incident arose over the reading of a message from the President, transmitting General Wood's denial that there had been wanton killing by the American soldiers.

HOUSE.

The House today adopted a joint resolution empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses in the railroad, coal and oil inquiry, recently directed by Congress.

The joint resolution submitted by Mr. Townsend had stricken from it the provision of $50,000 to carry on the inquiry.

Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, chairman of the appropriation committee, stated that the Interstate Commerce Commission will need not less than $150,000, which amount will be carried in one of the appropriations bills.

Mr. Mann said that the President was badly informed when he asked Congress to give the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, a power already vested in the commission.

"President Roosevelt challenged that power," said Mr. Townsend, "and it is for us to leave no doubt upon the subject."

Mr. Hardwicke introduced a resolution directing the committee on the election of the President and Vice President to investigate what amounts were contributed and by whom to the national election of 1904, to the national and congressional committees of both parties. The sum of $10,000 is appropriated for the purpose in question.

The Moro question came up in the House, Mr. Jones characterizing the battle of Mount Dajo as a massacre.

Mr. Williams read a parody on "The Charge of the Six Hundred" telling how helpless women and children were "butchered."

Mr. Jones declared that no explanation of the Secretary of War or the President will appease the wrath of the people towards General Wood.

Vultures and a Dead Tiger.

The vulture is seen at its best when a dead tiger, brought into camp to be skinned, is exposed in the open. Overhead is a cloudless sky, and not a bird to be seen in that great void by the human eye. The tiger's body is thrown from the pad to the ground, and before the skin has been removed there above one and always nearing the earth are the vultures circling, poising like things of air, now a dozen of them, in a few minutes a score or two and then a hundred strong. Then, when the flayed carcass of the tiger is left by those who skinned it, the vultures descend. Down they come like feathered thunder out of the sky, and from east and west and north and south, the very embodiment of power while they whirled aloft and in their quick descent to earth, and now, as they waddle around that carrion beast, misshapen ghouls, whose only apparent strength is that of the ravening jaws which tear and gorge the tiger's flesh, until within the hour naught of that splendid brute remains but a clean picked skeleton.—Sir Edward Bradden's "Thirty Years of Shikar."

A Rank Pessimist.

A Lady Bountiful living in a suburban village met an old man on the road one day and asked after his family, his health, etc. The old man gave a rather gloomy account of things. He had to work all day and every day, and he was growing old and felt the cold and was always tired. He wished he could rest a bit after his long life of labor. He was weary, very weary.

Lady Bountiful reminded him gently that every one had his share of work to do in this world, and that it was all only a preparation of the world to come, where there will be no tears or labor.

The old man shook his head and smiled cynically.

"That may be for the likes of you," he said. "But there'll be work for the likes of me. It will be the same thing there: 'John, clean the sun.' 'John, hang out the moon.' 'John, light the stars.' 'John, stop the wind.' They will find something for me to do, ma'am—you'll see."

A Wonderful Ride.

The most wonderful straightaway ride ever made by man was the gallop of Francis Xavier Aubrey, ci-devant Canadian voyageur and a famous pony express rider, from Santa Fe, N. M., to Independence, Mo., in 1853—800 miles in five days and thirteen hours. In 1852 he had covered the same distance in a little over eight days, and his record was on the wager of $1,000 that he "could do it in an even eight." In the whole distance he did not stop to rest, and he changed horses only with every 100 or 200 miles. He was a stocky French Canadian, light hearted, genial, adventurous and absolutely fearless. For some time he was an overland freighter, and he also made the enormously difficult and dangerous drive of a flock of sheep from New Mexico to California across the deserts of the Colorado. He was killed in Santa Fe.—McClure's Magazine.

Early Autograph Hunters.

A certain Atossa in early Roman days seems to have been the mother of autograph collectors. Cicero had a collection, which must have been a fine one, for he speaks of it with particular pride. The fever, even in those far back days, was contagious. Pliny speaks of Pompeius Secundus, at whose house he had seen autographs of Cicero, Augustus, Virgil and the Gracchi, and his own collection was valued at $15,000 of our money. Then came the inrush of barbarians, and we do not again meet with the collector until the beginning of the sixteenth century, when he reappears in the person of a Bohemian squire, who kept a book to record his exploits in the chase and enriched it with the signatures of his great hunter friends.

When Death Cools His Sting.

There is a curious superstition in Jamaica that if a death occurs in the house all the water in it is poisoned at once and must be thrown away, the reason given being that "death" cools his "sting" after destroying life in the first water he finds, and as no one can tell—death being invisible—what jar he may choose it is safest to throw it all away. Careful people to save trouble even carry all water out of the house immediately before a death is expected.

Already Well Made.

"Miss Deepley does make some of the most inapt quotations," remarked Bragg.

"Yes?" queried Newitt. "What, for instance?"

"Well, last night I remarked that I always avoided political discussion because I didn't want to make a fool of myself, and she said, 'One cannot paint the lily or gild refined gold.'"—Philadelphia Press.

She Paid on the Investment.

"Here," complained the aggrieved father, "I have spent nearly $15,000 on that girl's education, and now she goes and marries a $2,500 a year clerk."

"Well," said the friend of the family, "isn't that all of 15 per cent on your investment? What more do you want?"

Loss of British Steamer.

Twenty-nine men, including Capt. J. C. O'Hagan, went down with the British steamship British King, which foundered in a terrific gale off Sable Island, 150 miles off shore, Sunday.

A terrible story of suffering and terror was related yesterday by 18 survivors, taken to Boston on the Leyland liner Bostonian. Eleven more were rescued by the German oil steamship Mannheim. For three days and nights the two steamships lay as near as they could to their doomed vessel before a single rescue could be made.

The British King sailed from New York for Antwerp on March 7. She had a tempestuous trip, and on Wednesday of last week, while in the vicinity of Sable Island, became disabled. The Mannheim, bound east, and the Leyland liner, bound for Boston, both answered her signals of distress, but it was impossible for them to render any aid.

The sea was like a grouped mass of plunging mountains, and to launch small boats was out of the question. The sea raged for three days, and it was late Friday before it subsided sufficiently for the crew of the British King to put off in boats.

Captain O'Hagan lost his life, but his body was recovered. Boats from the Bostonian and Mannheim put off to the aid of the small boats from the British freighter.

The crew of the latter had not slept during their battle with the wind and sea and were weak and almost starved. Many of them only closed their eyes when they sank from exhaustion where they stood. Some were swept overboard because they were too weak to hold on.

The rescuers from the Bostonian picked up 18 of the survivors and took on board the body of Captain O'Hagan. The rescuers from the German steamship picked up 11 of the crew and continued on its eastward journey.

Two lifeboats from the Bostonian were crushed to fragments, and the volunteer crews which manned them were thrown into the high-running seas while engaged in the work of rescue, but all were rescued and taken aboard the Bostonian.

Volunteers from the Mannheim, after a heroic battle with the waves, had taken off 11 from the British King, but after this neither of the steamers, in consequence of the increasing gale, could make an attempt to reach the foundering freighter. Moreover, darkness fell and it was an utter impossibility to do else but wait for the moonlight to guide them. In the darkness the British King, which was then waterlogged and helpless, plunged to the bottom.

It was while Capt. O'Hagan was heroically engaged in attempts to save his ship a barrel of oil fractured one of his legs in two places. The injury was so severe that a piece of the bone protruded throught the flesh. In spite of this and internal injuries by his fall, Captain O'Hagan refused to be carried to the cabin. He ordered that his leg be bound up, and when this had been done he resumed command and directed the efforts which were being made to plug up the holes in the ship's side. But all efforts at repairs were fruitless.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several does that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Quick changes from hot to cold and back again try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest and positive remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases are cured in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
